2024 Course List

Course Name		PRE-CONFERENCE CLASS N.F.P.A. Level 1 Confined Space Rescue
Length	24 Hours
Description	For personnel who perform entry rescue services to relatively uncomplicated permit spaces, this program meets minimum requirements of OSHA 1910.146 (k) and NFPA 1670/1006. The training agenda considers unique confined space hazards and complexities, response plans, and the rescue team building process among varied experience levels. Participants learn proper procedures for entry type rescue into unobstructed confined spaces where victims can be seen from the entry. Typically the spaces accommodate two or more rescuers with the victim, and the hazards are identified, isolated and controlled. This class involves extreme physical activity!

2024 Course List

Course Name		FF297 Think Fast! Tactics from the Officer's Seat
Length	4 Hours
Description	Today's fire service presents many unique challenges for the fire service officer. With homes and businesses being constructed with light weight trusses and/or engineered lumber, the strategy and tactics utilized while fighting fires in these type buildings can prove to be challenging and inherently dangerous. The strategical and tactical approaches used in years past must be revisited. As less experienced officers are promoted and the overall number of structure fires declining, this proves to be a two-edged sword. The new aspiring officers are not afforded the opportunity to gain the valuable experience that aids in good, safe decision-making as it relates to applying the proper strategies and tactics to a given incident. On the other hand, fire prevention, suppression systems as well as fire codes have proven to be successful in minimizing the number of fires. With that being said, an avenue to gain knowledge, skills and abilities are in great demand. In the "Think Fast! Tactics from the Officer's Seat" course, students will participate in a multifaceted approach to developing the proper strategy and tactics used throughout various types of emergency incidents. The class will be comprised of a lecture and discussion of the department's SOP's / SOG's. In addition, the use of simulation scenarios will be utilized to bring a realistic approach to the classroom. Basic as well as more complex simulated scenarios will be utilized. Each student will have the opportunity to act as the OIC (Officer in Charge) or be part of an Engine and/or Truck Company. This in turn will help build the valuable knowledge base needed while making decisions on actual emergency scenes.

Course Name		FF228 Emergency Vehicle Driving Simulator Class 1
Length	8 Hours
Description	Emergency response driver training simulators (ERDTS) create real-world experiences that enable drivers to hone their skills within a variety of challenging situations. Drivers can learn a wide range of tasks, from basic vehicle operations to more advanced scenario-based tactical training, for many different vehicle types. This training enables the student to experience real-world situations without the logistical, legal, and moral ramifications that would automatically be attached to a mistake made on the streets. Unlike traditional driver safety courses that emphasize skills, law, and knowledge, the simulator empowers drivers to review their attitudes and find new ways to break old habits. The program covers <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire Department Collisions • Mental Awareness • Stress Awareness • Aggressive Driving • Response Driving • Sensory Overload • Defensive Driving

2024 Course List

Course Name		Developing the Next Generation of Fire Service Leaders
Length	4 Hours
Description	Professional development is the planned, progressive and lifelong process of education, training, self-development and experience that one gains during their development. In the fire service, professional development is a critical element of being a leader and a professional. When we step up to accept the responsibility of leadership, we also accept an obligation to continue our training, education, learning, personal experience and growth as we strive to improve our effectiveness. Professional development is an excellent tool for meeting that obligation. As fire service leaders and organizations, we must strive to provide continuing guidance to our most valuable resource, our personnel, through a carefully crafted professional development plan that meets the specific needs of the individual and organization. This program will help students with a guide to developing themselves as well Instructor: Douglas Cline

2024 Course List

Course Name		Leadership from the Bottom Up Class 1
Length	4 Hours
Description	This fun and engaging personal leadership development class is designed to inspire, educate, and motivate attendees on caring for the organizational spirit and reigniting their passion! As firefighters, we typically sit back and wait for the leaders at the top to move our organization forward when the momentum we need is located at the bottom. We need to understand the root of the problems that plague most organizations and how each attendee can be part of the solution. Take control of the things you can change and let go of the things you cannot. If you are a firefighter stop complaining and start doing; if you are an officer stop protecting and start correcting; if you are a chief officer, stop talking and start listening. It is time we all come together, shed the negative narrative, and become part of the solution. This calls for everyone to exercise leadership skills no matter their position! If you love the job, want to have fun, and be the change then this class is for you! This is not for the faint of heart; it is a raw, real, and relevant discussion that needs to happen if we want to leave the fire service better than we found it! Instructor: Dr. Candace Ashby, Battalion Chief, Indianapolis Fire Department

2024 Course List

Course Name		Intoxicated Leadership: Thinking Strategically vs. Reacting Emotionally Class 1
Length	4 Hours
Description	The Center for Creative Leadership estimates that "75% of careers are derailed for reasons related to emotional competencies, including the inability to handle interpersonal problems, unsatisfactory team leadership during times of difficulty or conflict, or the inability to adapt to change or elicit trust". Our flagship program reviews how our body processes and primes us to respond to conflict--including a review of emotional intelligence, common communication mistakes, conflict management, and executive functioning. Using real-world examples and videos, we coach how to have more effective relationships with our teams. This improves our ability to navigate how and when to have conversations to address personal and professional problems. This also helps us regulate our emotions and have a stronger, more effective command and control during emergencies. We place an emphasis on the prevention and management of conflict, as opposed to solely its resolution. Be prepared to laugh (including at yourself) while learning how to build deeper, more authentic relationships with your team. Intoxicated Leadership illustrates how the body perceives disagreement and why we respond to conflict the way we do. Luckily for us, emotional competencies can be learned and improved upon. Using this information, participants commonly report improvement at work and in their personal lives with their children and spouses. Instructor: Benjamin Martin

Course Name		FF228 Emergency Vehicle Driving Simulator Class 2
Length	8 Hours
Description	Emergency response driver training simulators (ERDTS) create real-world experiences that enable drivers to hone their skills within a variety of challenging situations. Drivers can learn a wide range of tasks, from basic vehicle operations to more advanced scenario-based tactical training, for many different vehicle types. This training enables the student to experience real-world situations without the logistical, legal, and moral ramifications that would automatically be attached to a mistake made on the streets. Unlike traditional driver safety courses that emphasize skills, law, and knowledge, the simulator empowers drivers to review their attitudes and find new ways to break old habits. The program covers <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire Department Collisions • Mental Awareness • Stress Awareness • Aggressive Driving • Response Driving • Sensory Overload • Defensive Driving

Course Name		FF287 Let's Talk Electric Vehicle Safety
Length	4 Hours
Description	In today's constantly evolving Fire and Emergency Services world we must look at how technology is affecting how we respond to emergencies in our communities. Our goal for everyone is that we go home safe after each shift. Therefore, we must continue to train like our lives depend on it because they do. As our country continues to reduce its dependence on fossil fuels and finds new alternatives, we in the fire service must also identify different ways to educate ourselves to these new technologies. That is why, in this class, we are looking at plug-in electric vehicles. These types of vehicles and their technology are challenging to our responders and must be better understood to maintain a safe environment. To accomplish this, we will look at the history of electric vehicles from the past to the present. The difference between the all-electric plug-in vs the hybrid-electric plug-in. What the state's plan is for electric vehicles and their partnerships to accomplish its goals. Also infrastructure, both public and residential, that supports the electric vehicle ownership. Then we will explore the response to emergencies involving plug-in electric vehicles. This will include both vehicle fires and crashes. The goal is to identify the special hazards that electric vehicle technology present to responders today. In this section we will look at how the electrical system of the vehicle must be addressed to ensure that we have a safe scene and are able to mitigate the emergency.
